

Parental preferences

At Buckden Day Nursery our partnership with parents is something we cherish and continually work on improving.

We ask that any parental preference is put in writing to be kept on file and we will ensure all members of staff are informed of the parents wishes.

An example of this would be if a parent did not want their child to have biscuits or only wanted them to have water to drink. Copies of these preferences are displayed in each base room and the dining rooms.

Should a parent have a request that may contravene the "National Day Care Standards" we would explain that we would not be able to follow their request through but would work with them to find a suitable alternative.
